INVESTIGATE MAN'S DEATH

Relatives of Wealthy Broker Think Circumstances Were Suspicious — Victim Seized With Convulsions After Taking Drink.

New York, Aug. 4.—The death of Singleton Van Schaick at his country home near "Stonegate," Pelham, on July 13, became the subject of an investigation by the authorities of West Chester county today.

It is known that a friend of the Van Schaick family has made an affidavit to Coroner Levinson at New Rochelle in which the circumstances surrounding the death are characterized as "suspicious."

The informant asserts to the best of his information and knowledge that Van Schaick died from the effects of choral poison contained in stimulants to which the deceased had been addicted.

According to statements made by friends of the family, the death of Mr. Van Schaick was both sudden and unexpected. He did not become critically ill until the afternoon of July 3, after he had taken a glass of whiskey and some supposedly harmless ingredients.

Collapsed After Drinking. Shortly after drinking the mixture he collapsed and was taken to his room in an unconscious condition. A house party was in progress in the Van Schaick home at the time. Among the guests were Miss Mabel Rockefeller and Francis J. Tietz. With the host and hostess on the veranda were several persons, including Joseph J. Ecclesine, who is described as social secretary for Mr. and Mrs. Van Schaick.

The following morning he had revived, but was seized with convulsions from another drink of whiskey. Physicians who were hurriedly called were unable to afford the sick man any relief. His condition became steadily worse and one convulsion followed another until the morning of July 13, four days after the first attack, when he died.

Physician's Certificate. The death certificate filed by Dr. E. S. Newell, the attending physician, ascribes the cause of death to cerebral meningitis.

About three months ago Dr. Newell was called to treat Mr. Van Schaick for extreme nervousness produced by drinking. The physician tells frankly that he prescribed a solution containing chloral, bromide of soda and digitalis. This was to be taken in doses which contained, according to Dr. Newell, approximately five grains of chloral, ten grains of bromide of soda and two drops of digitalis. Such doses, if not given with too great frequency, are declared to be harmless.

Joseph J. Ecclesine, who has already been described as Mr. Van Schaick's social secretary, said to-night: "Singleton Van Schaick died from alcoholic meningitis. He was given all proper attention during the illness which ended with his death and it cannot be said that there were any circumstances which could be called suspicious even by the widest stretch of imagination."

Member of Old Family. "Singleton Van Schaick was a member of one of the oldest Knickerbocker families in the state. He was rated as a millionaire. Van Schaick was educated at Eton college, England. Shortly after his school days he established himself a broker in Wall street, but most of his time had been devoted to sports. He was one of the best known cross-country riders in the east and was secretary and governor of the Irish Terrier club of America.

"Van Schaick's first wife died about eight years ago, leaving an estate of $50,000, consisting mostly of stocks and bonds and a farm at Cold Springs, L. I. To her husband she bequeathed $10,000 and half of the household furniture. The residue was left to their only child, Violet, who made her home at Pelham until a few days ago."

NEW PLANTS DISCOVERED

In making a study of grazing lands on the national forests 125 entirely new species of plants have been discovered by the government's experts, and will be named and classified by the botanists of the department of agriculture.

Their discovery came about through the collection of some 9000 different plant specimens, with notes as to their habits of growth and forage value. This work is part of a comprehensive plan to determine the grazing value of every acre of national forest land, in which the capacity of the soil to grow certain forage crops is to be determined and an effort made to decide for which class of stock—sheep, cattle or goats—the range is best suited.

The men who have made the studies have combined the qualities of practical stockmen and trained botanists. They divided the areas into such small subdivisions that maps have been prepared which show exactly the kinds of feed which grow on each acre and the time of year it is ready for grazing. The maps also show the stock's water supply and indicate the kind of stock best suited to the area.

The investigation also showed the enormous many areas covered with flourishing plants which apparently should furnish excellent grazing, but which were not of a character relished by stock; these areas, therefore, had little or no stock-carrying capacity.

As a result of the study the forest service announces that it will be in a position to direct its system of grazing management to bring about still better conditions for both stock and range.

EXTRA SESSION OF THE UTAH LEGISLATURE

Salt Lake, Aug. 5.—As a result of the amendment to the constitution of the United States, providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote, Utah is apparently facing two alternatives—either the present legislature will have to be convened in special session to revise the election machinery of the state to conform to the amendment, or the legislature, which meets in January, 1915, will have to take similar action in order that a special election may be called to choose a successor to Reed Smoot, whose term of office expires March 3, 1915. Otherwise, it would be impossible to conform to the amendment, as no action was taken at the last session of the legislature, which would give electors the right to vote for United States senator at the general election in November, 1914.

Legislatures Must Act. The question has been raised as to whether or not congress should specifically direct what is to be done by those states, which have failed to take action in the matter of providing for the direct election of senators, but the consensus of opinion appears to be that congress has nothing further to do with the matter and that the several states in this category must arrange to conform to the amendment, or suffer the consequences, whatever the consequences may be. The amendment to the constitution reads as follows:

"The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, elected by the people thereof for six years, and each senator shall have one vote. The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature. When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies. Provided, That the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct."

"This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any senator chosen before it has become valid as part of the constitution."

Attorney General Barnes, when seen by a reporter for The Tribune last night said that he did not believe the amendment to the constitution should be carried into effect without action by the legislature. Mr. Barnes said, at the same time, that he had not considered the matter thoroughly, but he was of the opinion that the legislature would have to readjust the election machinery in such manner as to harmonize with the amendment to the constitution before a direct vote could be cast for United States senator.

Points Out Alternatives. According to Mr. Barnes' unofficial opinion, the present legislature will be called to meet in special session for the purpose of revising the law in accord with the amendment, or the legislature which will meet in January, 1915, will have to take affirmative action so that a special election may be held preceding the date of the expiration of the senatorial term of Senator Smoot.

Concerning the issue raised, the chief executive of Utah, like the governors of several of the other states, constitutional lawyers in the senate, house and politicians generally, is at sea.

View of the Governor. Governor Spry frankly admitted yesterday that he did not know how the situation would affect Utah's representation in the United States senate, nor how the next senator would be chosen.

HUERTA TO PRESS FIGHT

Mexican President Declines Offer of Mediation—Will Not Treat With Rebels But Will Carry War on to End

Mexico City, Aug. 5.—The committee of congress that is empowered to act while the national legislature is not in session presented a memorial to President Huerta tonight offering to mediate between all contending parties in Mexico.

The president replied that he considered it indecorous and undignified for the government to treat with revolutionists, and for that reason had decided to carry the war on to the end.

Government officials refused to comment on the acceptance of Ambassador Wilson's resignation, but this action is understood to end all hope for recognition of the present government by the United States.

WATCHMAN IS HIT OVER THE HEAD

In his search for box car thieves who had broken into a box car, Joseph Burnett, a watchman in the local yards, was attacked and severely beaten about the head by thugs shortly after midnight. He was found in an unconscious condition, lying in a pool of blood, by switchmen who had been sent to look for him, and was removed to the Dee hospital for treatment.

When Burnett recovered consciousness later he was unable to give a clear account of what happened but he believes that there were either two or three thugs. He was walking through the yards in search of thieves and had reached a point on the side track in the rear of the Ogden Wholesale Grocery building. When he flashed his searchlight into a dark corner, he was immediately attacked and rendered senseless by blows upon the head.

Earlier in the evening, Special Patrolman Maxwell had found a number of new hats in the alley near the old pickle factory on Wall avenue. They were recognized as having been taken from a car then on the sidetrack and the railroad watchmen were sent out after the thieves.

How long Burnett lay upon the ground before the switchmen found him is not known. The clerk in the freight office had become anxious concerning the watchman and with a companion had walked down the side track. Because of the darkness the two had passed the wounded watchman and it was not until the night switchmen joined in the search was the man found.

The injuries on the back of Burnett's head look as though they had been inflicted with a sharp instrument. In addition, his face is cut and his nose and lips are swollen.

PATROLMAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

John W. Cooney, aged 62 years, and for the past thirteen years a member of the Ogden police department, died at his home, 122 Twenty-third street at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, following an illness of more than three years. He had been a sufferer from lung trouble but death was directly due to heart failure. For the past four months he had not been able to participate regularly in the discharge of his duties as a patrolman.

Born in Ononagan, Mich., on February 19, 1854, Mr. Cooney came to Utah many years ago. On April 14, 1879, he was united in marriage to Elizabeth A. Drake. In addition to the widow, he is survived by one son, L. Leo Cooney, and one daughter, Miss Florence Cooney, both residing at home. There are also two sisters, Miss Alice Cooney of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Della Taylor of Marquette, Mich., and one brother, William Cooney, residing in Canada.

Mr. Cooney was a member of Ogden council No. 777, Knights of Columbus, and the Woodmen of the World. Definite arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

CONFERENCE OF BANKERS

Washington, Aug. 5.—By direction of Secretary McAdoo, telegrams were sent today to the presidents of the clearing house associations of fifty-nine cities in the West, South and on the Pacific coast, inviting the associations in each of these cities to send a representative or committee to Washington to discuss arrangements relative to the deposit of the $50,000,000 government funds which the secretary proposes to make in the different sections to facilitate the movement of the crops.

The conference with the representatives of the clearing house associations in the South will be held at the treasury department on Thursday morning, the 7th instant. The representatives of the Western cities will meet the secretary at the treasury department on Friday morning, the 8th, while the representatives from the clearing house associations on the Pacific coast will meet at the treasury department on Thursday, the 14th.

The cities which have been invited to have representatives at these conferences are as follows: Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery, Ala.; Little Rock, Ark.; Los Angeles and San Francisco, Cal.; Denver, Colo.; Tampa and Jacksonville, Fla.; Atlanta and Savannah, Ga.; Chicago, Ill.; Evansville, Fort Wayne and Indianapolis, Ind.; Des Moines and Sioux City, Ia.; Kansas City, Mo.; New Orleans, La.; Louisville, Ky.; New Orleans, La.; Baltimore, Md.; Vicksburg and Meridian, Miss.; St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo.; Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.; Detroit, Mich.; Charlotte, Wilmington and Raleigh, N. C.; Omaha, Neb.; Oklahoma City and Muskogee, Okla.; Portland, Ore.; Cincinnati, Cleveland and Columbus, O.; Charleston, Columbia, Spartanburg and Greenville, S. C.; Chattanooga, Knoxville, Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.; Dallas, Galveston and San Antonio, Texas; Richmond, Norfolk and Roanoke, Va.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Seattle and Spokane, Wash., and Milwaukee, Wis.

The secretary said that it is not practicable to increase the number of cities which are to be represented at the conferences and that he thought those selected were thoroughly representative of the different sections of the country where the crop-moving funds are to be placed. Treasury officials declared that the entire $50,000,000 which has been offered will be deposited if the situation demands it. It was explained that care would be taken to prevent any undue inflation of the circulating volume of money and that the government would deposit only what was needed to assist in moving the crops, with the stipulation that it must be returned to the treasury as soon as that need shall have passed. At the conference with the bankers Secretary McAdoo will discuss the amount needed and the dates to be named for the gradual return of the money to the government.

The treasury department expects to begin making the deposits before the close of August and gradually to feed the money into the selected centers as the demands grow through the crop-moving period.

ANGER OF THE WIVES SOMEWHAT COOLED.

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—The wives of Drew Caminetti and Maury I. Diggs are in San Francisco, evidently having come to this city to be present at the trials of their husbands on the charge of violating the Mann white slave act.

Diggs will be the first to face a jury. His trial is to begin tomorrow in the federal district court, and that of Caminetti is to follow it. What the wives of the two defendants intend to do is not known. It is said, however, that the wives have come to the conclusion that the men were not wholly to blame for the escapade with the young girls that brought about the present prosecution.

Both sides declare that they are ready to go to trial and that there will be no further delay in the prosecution of the cases. Both of the defendants are represented by a small army of attorneys and between thirty and forty witnesses will be summoned. Diggs, it is said, will endeavor to prove by a score of witnesses from the night life that Marsha Warrington, whom he is accused of transporting from one state to another for immoral purposes, is not the innocent girl that she has been represented to be. Several days will be required to dispose of the Diggs case.

LIGHTNING KILLS CHARLESTON MAN

Charleston, Utah, Aug. 4.—George Daybell, aged 61, a prominent rancher, land owner and capitalist of this region, was instantly killed by lightning at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Daybell was standing by a nearly completed hayrack, superintending his "dressing" when the bolt struck him in the back of the neck, the current passing through his body, tearing off his shoes and throwing them several feet from where he fell. His 10-year-old granddaughter, Inez, who was playing near by, was shocked and rendered unconscious, and Parley McAfee, one of the stackers, also received a severe shock. A peculiar rarity of the thunderbolt lies in the fact that no rain was falling at the time, the clouds overhead being only slightly threatening, while the electric storm which followed shortly was insignificant.

Mr. Daybell was a pioneer resident of Charleston and possessed extensive interests both in the town and through the valley. He is survived by the widow and three sons, Robert, Fred and George W., all residents of this vicinity.

AIDS WATER SUPPLY

Brigham City, Aug. 4.—Work on the Brigham City pipe line through Box Elder canyon has been going on steadily since spring, and the workmen will soon be able to see the end of the big job. The line was completed through the canyon last fall, where a number of new springs were tapped, and this spring work was resumed southward toward Devil's Gate canyon, where the pipe line will terminate. Here a large stream of pure mountain water will be tapped and diverted to the city reservoirs for use in the city's system. The new pipe line when completed will take the place of the old line, which is built in the bottom of the canyon, where it is always in danger of being washed out, and the pipe is but eight-inch. The new line is being built of twelve-inch cement pipe and is located far up the side of the canyon, placing it entirely out of danger of early spring washouts. The new pipe line will furnish sufficient water to meet the needs of the city for many years in the future. When the line and extensions in the city are completed about $35,000 will have been expended on the city's already splendid municipal waterworks system.

SMALL BOY FINDS MISSING DIAMOND.

Newburyport, Mass., Aug. 5.—A small boy today was found playing with a brooch pin set with "pretty glass," which he had picked up in the street. Investigation showed the "glass" to be the missing $1500 diamond pin of Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris, wife of the Chicago packer. The trinket was turned over to Mrs. Morris and the youngster disappeared without waiting to get the $50 reward offered by Mrs. Morris.
